

Annual Report 2017 - 2018

A Message from the Director

The “year” began with an exhibit curated by TAM’s very own education director, and 2018 recipient of the Governor’s Award for excellence in Arts Education, Alexa Stanger. When she is not at TAM, Alexa spends much of her time helping to run the family cattle ranch. Her longtime relationship with so many of the master craftsmen of Idaho proved to be an invaluable asset to the curation of The Cowboy: Through Lens & Leather.

As only the second art museum located in Idaho and the only one serving the eastern side of the state, an area rich with deep agricultural and ranching roots, The Cowboy: Through Lens & Leather provided a meaningful way for TAM to connect with a portion of our population that had yet to fully engaged with the museum. By showcasing, in a museum setting, the work of world-famous saddle makers, rawhide braiders, bit and spur makers, including the legendary Dale Harwood and Cary Schwarz, who call eastern Idaho home, TAM was able to highlight the daily life and tools used by working cowboys in a new light and make the museum feel more accessible to a new audience. This was best illustrated during the exhibit opening, when a young ranch boy of about eight, clad in western attire complete with cowboy boots said with awe and a sense of pride, “I didn’t know saddles could be art.”

The “cowboy” exhibit was very well received by many of our international visitors during the week leading up to the solar eclipse last summer and proved to be a wonderful way to prepare a group of Japanese youth visiting as part of the Sister Cities delegation for their first War Bonnet Rodeo experience. Attempting to explain such western concepts in my rusty Japanese certainly put my language skills to the test, and although I did have to resort to some Disney references (Woody from Toy Story) for a frame of context from which we could work from, it reaffirmed my belief in arts’ ability to cross cultural barriers and promote understanding and respect.

Through new and existing collaborations including School District 91, the Zoo, the Library, Idaho Falls Downtown Development, the Museum of Idaho and Breaking Boundaries, TAM was able to expand its reach into the community even further this year. Baby strollers and small children have become such a welcome sight at Gallery Walks these days that we have begun serving kid-sized M&M cookies to cater to our special guests!

Thanks to generous grants received during this reporting period from the City of Idaho Falls and the CHC Foundation, in the coming weeks, TAM will be rolling out a brand-new website and integrating a Point-of-Sales system into its daily operations. What does this mean for you? It means online membership renewals, online class registration options and much more!

Now for the two million-dollar question . . . when is TAM going to start building its education wing? Because TAM is located on prime river-front property, State and Federal regulations come into play. Director of Parks & Recreation, Greg Weitzel has been supportive of the museum’s proposed project and has been instrumental in securing a way for TAM’s expansion land requirements to fall within the original land agreement formed with associated State and Federal governmental agencies at the time of the museum’s original construction. We eagerly anticipate the official kick-off of the capital campaign upon written receipt of the aforementioned land agreement.

I invite you, as friends of TAM, to include your art museum in your estate and long-term giving plans and encourage you to take advantage of naming right opportunities—whether it be of the entire wing, a classroom or a single brick in the patio overlooking the river—as a way to leave your personal legacy of art, education and culture along the River.

Thank you, our wonderful members, for the innumerable ways you support TAM! You are truly the backbone of the museum, and it was your investment that enabled TAM to inspire, educate and empower lives through the visual arts in 2017-18!

A Message from the President

This has been an incredible year for The Art Museum of Eastern Idaho (TAM). Our fantastic staff, along with dedicated board members have initiated many new opportunities and projects for the museum. TAM was invited to partner with Breaking Boundaries and help facilitate another successful Beer Fest. Additionally, the museum held its first Off-the-Wall event. Our generous community donated artwork which TAM sold in a two-day event. Our on-going events such as Beaux Cadeaux, the Art of the Golf, and the Century Ride increased in popularity and generated more revenue. Thank you to all who participated and donated works of art.

Another museum project is prominent all around town. In conjunction with the Downtown Development Corporation, TAM now has replicas of artwork from the Permanent Collection appearing as vinyl wraps on traffic cabinets. Keep an eye out for the works of Marilyn Hoff Hansen, Roy Reynolds, and other local artists.

Another area of pride for the museum is its active group of artists. The Museum Artists number over 100 participants. In collaboration with the Museum of Idaho, the Museum Artists created works for the exhibit The Art of Steampunk, which was exhibited at TAM and will be shown at the Museum of Idaho. The Artists have also started a new program, Connecting Points, which is a series of informal art discussions and demonstration.

The museum's ARTworks education program directly impacted over 14,500 community members during the last school year. Museum-sanctioned art instructors provided free hands-on art-making opportunities to 250 classrooms in eastern Idaho. TAM hosted over 70 guided exhibit tours with art lessons to area schools reaching 2,100 elementary through high school students. All second grade students from School District 91 visited the museum for a tour and art lesson. Free quarterly Family Days to the public offered art-making opportunities to more than 5,000 community members. In March the annual Young at Art exhibit and the Congressional Art Competition featured the artwork of over 500 Idaho students, grades K - 12.

We are so proud of Alexa Stanger, TAM's Education Director, for receiving the Governor's Award for Excellence in Art's Education. She will be honored at the Capitol Building in November.

Finally, on a personal note, I would like to thank the staff, the board members, and the community for all the support you gave me as President of the Board of Directors. This organization is a tremendous asset for the community, and I am so glad to have been a small part of it.

Head Start in Idaho Falls, Idaho

ARTworks

Piloted in 2003, TAM provides visual arts opportunities to the community of eastern Idaho by taking art processes into regional elementary school classrooms to strengthen students' understanding of and skills in the arts, bringing students to TAM for guided exhibit tours with related art lessons, and providing hand-on learning in the arts to area educators.

TAM strives to be a vital visual arts resource for local schools, community organizations and families. This is accomplished through TAM's education program, ARTworks, which implements the National Core Arts Standards and the Idaho Humanities Performance Standards.

During the 2017 - 2018 school year, the ARTworks program impacted over 14,500 students, teachers and family members. Museum-sanctioned art instructors visited 125 elementary classrooms in Idaho Falls area and 122 classrooms in 14 rural schools including Dubois, Arco, Firth, Soda Springs and Fort Hall, extending free hands-on art-making opportunities. TAM also provided over 70 guided exhibit tours with art lessons to area schools reaching over 2,100 elementary through high school students, including all second grade students from School District 91.

Free quarterly Family Days to the public offered art-making opportunities to more than 5,000 community members and strengthened their understanding of our exhibited artwork. In addition, TAM provided monthly art visits to preschool students at Head Start and adults at State Hospital South.

In March the annual Young at Art exhibit and the Congressional Art Competition featured the artwork of over 500 Idaho students, grades K - 12. In June 2018, TAM hosted its Summer Workshop for Educators, providing art training for regional teachers with multiple ways to incorporate art into their curriculum. Educators ranging from preschool to high school participated and explored drawing, painting, printmaking and ceramics processes.

Each month, in collaboration with Newspapers in Education, TAM offered a full-page, full-color art lesson and highlighted a student artist in the local newspaper, the Post Register (circulation 70,000).

KIDStudio

The CHC KIDStudio provides child-friendly interactive art opportunities for families visiting The Art Museum. Sculpture, drawing and design materials are available, and the room also offers a wall-mounted drawing easel, a magnetic shapes wall activity board, children's art books and puzzles and an inset light box table for color exploration. In addition, an exhibit scavenger hunt is available to encourage young visitors to engage fully with museum exhibits.

Youth Classes

In 2017 - 2018, youth classes such as Make a Mess, FIVE, Art Attack, Art Studio, Mud Club and Graphic Novel were offered to children ages 3 - 14. Students explored core art principles, developed fine art techniques and engaged in a broad range of art-making processes from drawing to sculpture. In March, TAM and the Idaho Falls Zoo collaborated on a spring break camp for students ages 5 - 12. Participants spent two days at the zoo and two days at The Art Museum exploring art forms inspired by the close study of animals and their habitats. In the summer of 2018, TAM offered three ARTrek camps for youth ages 6 - 13. Students explored traditional and contemporary art forms and artists from cultures around the world.

Classes and Workshops for Adults

During 2017 - 2018, TAM offered a diverse range of classes and workshops for adults including watercolor workshops with Carl Purcell, Gloria Miller Allen and Linda Aman, a pastel painting workshop with Mary Ann Cherry, printmaking with Bernadette Regnier, and oil painting workshops with David Jones and Shushana Rucker. In addition, TAM offered monthly ceramics classes with Dustin Thompson. TAM's Monday night Open Studio sessions held twice a month provided Museum Artists the opportunity to refine their drawing and painting skills with a range of live models.

Adult classes engage new and emerging artists, allowing beginning students to develop their own artistic voice and advance in techniques. Intermediate and advanced classes and workshops help established artists connect with new approaches and refine their skills.

Young at Art Family Day, March 2018

Our greatest resource: Volunteers

Target volunteers helping out at Young at Art Family Day.

TAM volunteers, the heart of the museum, provide countless hours of donated time and offset thousands of dollars in labor costs. From exhibits to education, to building maintenance and fundraisers, our volunteers provide the manpower that helps us fulfill our mission. Our volunteers greet visitors, make sales in the gift shop, help plan and hang exhibits, assist with education outreach tours and Family Day art activities, and provide support for our fundraisers by directing traffic, delivering goods, setting up signs, repairing bicycles, helping with auctions and much more. They even help maintain TAM's beautiful water features and sensory gardens.

TAM has enlisted the services of Nancy Koonce, a CPA and fraud specialist at Ataraxis Accounting. Koonce's extensive knowledge of accounting for nonprofits has provided invaluable guidance to TAM. "Keeping nonprofit financial records for a public museum is different from bookkeeping at a 'for profit' business or entity. Nancy's counsel provides a whole new level of accountability and transparency to our financials," according to Jessica Hull Livesay, Business Manager. Koonce provides excellent technical advice and counsel along with reviewing the books on a monthly basis.

2017 - 2018 Memorials, Legacies and Restricted Fund Donations

The Art Museum of Eastern Idaho dedicates memorial, legacy and honoraria contributions to the acquisition of permanent art collection pieces as designated by the donor. If the donor expresses a different expectation, that wish is honored.

Donations to the Scholarship Fund offset the cost of tuition for at-need students and also subsidize art tours for classes from qualifying low-income schools. In 2017 - 2018, $350 was provided to schools for tours with accompanying exhibit-based art lessons along with busing. TAM also provided three students with summer camp scholarships and 15 students with after-school art class scholarships.

Museum Artist

Since 2007, the Museum Artist have participated in a membership category of TAM that is dedicated to providing a positive and enriching venue for the community of artists at all stages in their personal development, contributing to the achievement of the cultural and educational missions of the museum. They provide financial, in-kind and volunteer support to TAM. In 2017 - 2018, individual members donated pieces of their own original art to the Century Ride, Art and Ale and the Art of Golf and also volunteered at our fundraisers and Family Days. Two Studio Gallery exhibits showcased original artwork by members of the Museum Artists group.
